
The Tragedy of

Rod. VSh; Neuer tel
That thou who h
As if the ſtrings

Iag. But you'le not heare

If euer I did dreame of ſuch a

Rod. Thou toldſt me, thou

Iag. Deſpiſe me if I doe no

In perſonall ſuite to make me h

Oft capt to him, and by the fa

I know my price, I am worth

But he, as louing his owne pr

Euades them, with a bumbait

Horribly ſtuft with Epithites

Non-ſuits my Mediators: for

I haue already choſe my Offic

Forſooth, a great Arithmetitia

One Michael Caſsio, a Floren

A fellow almoſt damb'd in a fai

That neuer ſet a ſquadron in th

Nor the diuiſion of a Battell k

More then a Spinſter, vnleſſe t

Wherin the tongued Conſuls

As maſterly as he: meere prat

Is all his Souldier-ſhip: but he

And I, of whom his eyes had ſ

At Rhodes, at Cipres, and on oth

Chriſtn'd and Heathen, muſt b

By Debitor and Creditor, this

A

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Othello (STC 22306) LONDON, 1630 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.